'Speaking of dogs,' said Superintendent John Horne of the Mount Washington railway, "did you ever see a dog faint away?" No one had. "Well, I have?' said the veteran railroad official, and then he proceeded to tell of a very young pup which was taken from its mother and remained at the signal station on Mount Washington all winter, several years ago. When taken down the mountain in the spring, he met another dog, who undertook to make his acquaintance. "You will observe," said Mr. Horne, 'the young fellow didn't remember ever having seen a dog, and doubtless thought the one before him was the only other dog in the world.
